

Course Description – Curriculum 2013

Subject: IS314 Database Systems

Credits: 3

Prerequisite: IS201

Description: Concepts and components of database systems, database management system, database models and architecture, data definition language and data manipulation language, database design. Data backup and recovery, concurrency and database security, distributed database and SQL (Structured Query Language) for database definition and manipulation.